

Performance Report: Creative Choreography

Event: 39th AIU East Zone Inter-University Youth Festival ("Utsah")

Team: Ranchi University, Ranchi (St. Xavier's College, Simdega)

Date: January 28, 2026

Venue: Fakir Mohan University, Balasore, Odisha

1. Competition Overview

The 12-member contingent competed against 09 universities in the Creative Choreography category.

- Winner: Adamas University, West Bengal
- Runner-up: Utkal University of Culture, Odisha
- Third Place: Vinoba Bhave University, Jharkhand

2. Performance Assessment

The performance demonstrated strong individual technical skills but highlighted specific areas requiring operational refinement.

- Strengths: High levels of stage improvisation and technical adaptability by individual dancers.
- Technical Gaps: Inefficient prop handling and lack of fluid transitions between choreographic segments.
- Execution: Noted inconsistencies in team coordination during group movements and rapid costume changes.

3. Logistics Management

Venue/Lodging: Accommodation facilities provided by the host institution were excellent.

Catering: Food arrangements were suboptimal and posed a challenge to the team's routine.

Event Schedule: The organizing committee maintained strict adherence to the competition timeline.

4. Conclusion

The event provided critical exposure to high-level regional competition. While the team did not secure a podium finish, the festival served as a benchmark for technical execution and stage management requirements for future AIU participation.

An experience - It was an excellent experience to witness the AIU East Zone Youth Festival among various universities from different states, each having diverse cultures. Our team participated in "Creative Choreography". The exposure at Balasore was tremendous, the talented performers - whether in theater or mimicry elevated our personal horizons of thinking, learning and exploring.
