Abstract

Master students are the research students where they equip themselves with Research Methodology as approach to explain the research problem. It is also a discipline of study how to research systematically. We study the different steps that are used in studying research problem. Researcher is here to make an academic journey with the research techniques and methodology. The research journey enhances the qualitative and integrated learning while one visits the problem in the nature, society and library. Every research begins with the main problem which invites a set of questioners within the boundary. The literature review is best if the data is reviewed from a newer to former age. Objectives of the research are framed which are traced by the questionnaires to achieve the relevant data for its findings and identify its research gap. The introduction of every research briefs the explanation with a short para. Data is both primary and secondary for its analysis and reflection. One grows in confidence while research to relate oneself with the problem, tests, analysis, findings and conclusion. Research survey is to appreciate the assumptions, findings and give best outcome to the users. One discovers the better path for one's research journey with a best satisfied manner.
